

Veggies

Game Name: Veggies Needed Tools: None Really Drunk Level: Getting Started, Buzzed, Drunk, Hammered, Shit Faced

Game Rules: The idea of the game is to start off with the youngest person in the game who will look directly at someone and ask a question. The more outrageous the question the better.

This is a funny game to play to start things out and get the ball rolling. Everyone sits in a circle and everyone picks the name of a vegetable. Let's say for instance player A is a pepper, player B is a cabbage, player C is a broccoli. You say your name out loud so everyone knows everyone else's veggie name. To start the game a player says their veggie name and then another player's veggie name. This player repeats this process. Then comes the catch that puts a spanner in the works! Throughout the entire game no one is allowed to show their teeth. If at any time you are caught showing your teeth you have to drink. And it is hard to remember not to show your teeth. This game is good for laughs!
