

Century Club

Game Name: Century Club
Needed Tools: Beer & Shot Glasses
Drunk Level: Getting Started, Buzzed, Drunk, Hammered, Shit Faced

This is an extended version of the power hour.

This is another straight forward simple game, the best kind.
You will end up very drunk, very quickly if you play this.
The necessary materials are: people, lots of beer, and a designated time keeper.

Every minute for 100 minutes, each player takes a shot of beer (1 oz or 1.5 oz, you choose). At one oz, this equates to just short of nine cans of beer in less just over 1.5 hours.
That's a lot of beer.

The game starts out slow, but in the later rounds you wonder where the time went.

It helps to have a timekeeper because otherwise, you tend to miss a few shots in there.

Remember, not everyone makes it to 100. But if you do, feel proud.

Courtesy of: Nic.funet.fi